

Greater Assortment of Prizes Features Constitution School

A greater array of prizes will be offered in the Constitution's Cooking school, which will be held at Keith's Georgia theater this year, than ever before, it was announced on Tuesday.

These will include two electric refrigerators, an electric stove, a radio set, washing machine, kitchen cabinet, and many other smaller tokens. In addition 100 baskets of food will be given away.

Children's menus will be featured at one of the sessions, and another period will be given to "Daughter in the Kitchen."

Cupid keeps an eye on the economical situation of the nation, and when it is at a low ebb Cupid folds his wings and takes a vacation. In other words, depression years are always indicated by the falling number of marriages. That means, of course, thousands of girls who in ordinary times, would be brides, are leading a bachelor girl existence or staying at home.

"And that's where I come in," says Miss Claire Andre, of the DeBoth Home Makers' School, who will be in Atlanta on March 1-4 for a series of lectures and demonstrations under the auspices of The Constitution.

For Employed Girls.

Miss Andre explains her remark from two angles. First, she takes up the case of the bachelor girls—not only those whose wedding dates have slipped a little further into the future, but also those who have elected to remain in a state of single blessedness. Just because a girl is employed and has to have a tiny flat of her own is no reason why she shouldn't enjoy the pleasures of a home table.

The DeBoth schools have made a specialty of menus that can be easily prepared, require brief time, and are at the same time both tasteful and filling, for they recognize that the girl who works needs real food base, in order to keep burning the inner fires that make for the efficiency and "pep" demanded by the modern office and shop.

Not only have they looked over the food situation and the time element, but they have investigated what is best for the bachelor girl in the way of ease of preparation. A tired girl hesitates to take up a job of complicated cookery, Miss Andre admits, but, she adds, it isn't in the least necessary to face any such job.

"I teach the girls what to get and how to prepare meals so that the effort is required," she says. "In fact, the cookery may be made almost a recreation, and a triumphant recreation, too. The thrill of success in the cookery is a real one and the bachelor girl who knows what she is doing can hear the office chorus of 'Gee, I had a terrible dinner last night at the restaurant,' with a smile of understanding and delight.

Must Direct Servants.

"As for the girl who has to stay under the paternal shelter for a year longer than she expected, what could be better than giving that extra year to adventures in cookery? The girl that will put in just a year learning to cook under scientific principles will find herself famous among the young married set after the great event becomes a reality.

"Even the girl who expects servants to care for kitchen and house will be benefited. How can she instruct and direct if she doesn't know what to tell her maids? The average maid is both willing and anxious to be proficient, and once the housewife has demonstrated her knowledge of cookery she will find a willing and eager pupil.

"Another thing: The bachelor girl who begins a 30-minute session in a kitchen will spend as much time waiting in a restaurant and many, many times that amount of time in the years trying to find corrective measures for uneasy and painful stomach conditions. Cookery should not only create health for today, but health for tomorrow and many tomorrows."

Miss Andre tells those who attend her lectures how to do that very thing.

The family that sits down to a DeBoth directed meal not only recognizes the wisdom of that balanced meal, because that will be lost in the delight of the flavor, the lure of the appearance and entrancing aroma. Appearance and flavor are important because both set to work the digestive juices and prepare the way. The old saying of "making one's mouth water" is based on a reality. It's nature's way of saying "I'm good for you"—even if there are a few exceptions.

And just a tip, don't think the bachelor girl who can cook and invites her girl friends over isn't creating publicity agents who will sing her place in his brief talk with the cabinet member.

Friends of the husky Californian believe he will not enter the Ohio race or make an active effort for the nomination. He already has declined to go into North Dakota and Illinois, where he was promised support.

At St. Louis, Oklahoma's governor told interviewers in a voice which rang through the station waiting room that he had been ruled out of the Georgia primary "either because of the United States mail broke down or the Georgia politicians purposely did not open my letter with a declaration of candidacy."

This declaration arrived in Savannah today, hours after the entry lists were declared closed. State committee officials said this barred "Alfalfa Bill" from contesting with Governor Roosevelt for the Georgia delegation, but Murray plans to stump the state nevertheless.

Speaking at Ann Arbor, Governor Ritchie, who will have Maryland's votes for the nomination, called for a return to "first principles" of government. He addressed the University of Michigan forum, Michigan's democratic leaders are solid Rooseveltians.

Issues as well as personalities were brought within the range of the day's developments. Governor Murray, writing to Senator Wheeler, (democrat Montana), advocated the senator's bill for free coinage of silver, but expressed a fear it would not pass.

"Sooner or later whether we will or not," Murray wrote, "we shall be obliged to adopt bi-metalism or to coin much more silver than we are now doing, or lose that foreign trade so necessary just now to keep American labor employed."

OKLAHOMAN SEES RUSE

IN MURRAY'S TARDINESS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 23.—(P) Pat Malloy, of Tulsa, recognized as the leader of the Roosevelt forces in Oklahoma, charged today that Governor W. H. Murray "deliberately fails to file his candidacy in the Georgia presidential preference primary."

The charge was made after the Oklahoma governor had announced en route to Indiana for a speaking tour he would contest the ruling of the Georgia democratic central committee that he had failed to qualify as a candidate because his personal entrance plans had failed to arrive on time.

Malloy alleged that Murray acted upon the advice of Ed Seney, of Lawrence, Kan., chairman of the democratic state executive committee, Tuesday advised Miss Stella Akin, committee secretary and treasurer, to return Governor Murray's $1,000 deposit of $1,000 to the sender.

"Governor Murray failed to qualify," Camp explained, "Miss Akin advised me, and I advised her, to return the check as I saw nothing she could do about it."

LETTER FROM GOV. MURRAY

UNOPENED IN SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 23.—(P) A letter from Governor William H. Murray, of Oklahoma, presumably the check on $1,000, a certain candidate in the Georgia presidential preference primary, arrived here today.

Refrigerator and Range Line Added by King Hardware Co.

L. W. MORRIS.

H. P. OSBORNE.

A new line of electric refrigerators and ranges has been added by the King Hardware Company, is announced on Tuesday. Majestic electric refrigerators and Electric-Range ranges will be shown on the second floor, in enlarged quarters with the Majestic radio, for many years featured in a special department.

Wednesday will mark the opening of the new department which will be marked by the distribution of source materials and the management of H. P. Osborne, assisting Mr. Morris will be S. H. Hall.

Through the adding of the new products, it is pointed out, complete sales and servicing in one department will be possible on the complete line of both Majestic refrigerators and radios. All models of the refrigerators, ranges and radios will be on display Wednesday, with a corps of efficient salesmen and servicing men to explain the mechanical features of the various machines.

day, hours after the state entry lists were declared closed.

The letter, unopened, is in the office of Miss Stella Akin, secretary of the state democratic executive committee. Sent special delivery, air mail, it was found under the door of Miss Akin's office when she reached there today. It bore a Savannah postmark of "2 a. m., February 23."

It had been in transit two days and 15 hours from Oklahoma City where it was mailed at 11 a. m. Saturday, according to the postmark.

After it had been mailed in Oklahoma City, it was postmarked by an air field with the date of February 21, 7:30 a. m. but the name of the field failed to print on the envelope.

Miss Akin found the Murray letter and another from George Henshaw, Governor Murray's representative in Oklahoma City, under the door of her office. The Henshaw letter was not sent special delivery but it was under the door with the governor's letter. It came by air mail and merely advised Miss Akin that Governor Murray was advised to return the $1,000 deposit.

The receipt of the letter, Miss Akin said, does not change Governor Murray's status. She said failure of the letter to reach her before 12 noon, eastern standard time, yesterday, the closing hour for qualification of candidates in the presidential primary, bars the Oklahoma man from the primary. The same opinion has been expressed by Lawrence Camp, chairman of the state committee.

MRS. AIKEN PLANS PLEA FOR RUSSELL

Slayer's Wife Says She'll Fight to Last; Mate Is Taken to Prison Farm.

With Sam F. Aiken, condemned murderer of his first wife, lodged in the death cell at Milledgeville awaiting electrocution Friday, Aiken's second wife Tuesday night vowed her determination to stick by her man "until the last breath is out of his body."

Mrs. Aiken, who took Aiken for "better or worse" in Houston, Texas, while he was at liberty from Fulton tower under the name of C. W. Shaw, said that as her attorneys appeal to the state supreme court for a mandamus to require Judge John D. Humphries to certify a bill of exceptions on an extraordinary motion for a new trial, she will take Aiken's plea to Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. in an effort to obtain additional time.

Aiken was spirited away from Fulton tower Tuesday morning by deputies of Sheriff James I. Lowry, who took extraordinary precautions against a possible rescue attempt, having in mind the instance of some months ago when a relative of Aiken escaped from a Fulton deputy en route to Atlanta.

Humphries Tuesday morning refused to certify a bill of exceptions to his decision on Aiken's extraordinary motion, holding that new evidence presented by Attorneys John W. Thomas and Louis H. Foster would not be admissible even if a new trial was given Aiken.

As Aiken left the tower, he expressed the belief that a "great" would be turned loose if some people will come forward and tell the things they know." Aiken said that "so far I have not had a fair trial, and I do not believe that the courts of Georgia will let me die without one. I'll come back, O. K."

Aiken was shackled and was handcuffed to deputies. Guards were armed with sawed-off shotguns on the trip to Milledgeville and the second formed a rear guard for the car bearing the prisoner.

Mrs. Aiken Tuesday told of the tragic death of her first husband, who, like Aiken, was a painter. The first husband was beaten to death in Lufkin, Texas, during a midnight attack by three men in May, 1929, before the eyes of his wife and two children, Mrs. Aiken said. One man was tried for the slaying, but was acquitted, she said.

Met in Boarding House.

Mrs. Aiken said that she met Aiken in Houston while she was cooking and housekeeping at a boarding house where he was a roomer.

"Sam and I went together, and I took care of him as he came into my life," she said. "After our marriage on November 16, 1931, Sam stayed at home and made a good and kind husband. He worried a great deal, but I thought it was over finances."

"I pray that God will give me strength to fight this thing through," Mrs. Aiken said. "I am penniless and would not be here in Atlanta but for the kindness of the people of Houston. I took a sacred vow to stand with Sam through better or worse, and I will do my utmost to fulfill that vow."

Mrs. Aiken said that she saw her husband Tuesday morning at the tower and told him, "Honey, don't be blue. The state of Georgia has a silver lining, and the sun will peep through." Later in the day, when she went back to the tower to see him, she was informed that he had been carried to the prison farm, she said.

RECORD VOTE BLOCKED

ON WIRE TAPPING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(P) Through unusual parliamentary procedure, prohibitionists in the house tonight blocked a record vote on the expenditure of federal money for wire tapping in dry law enforcement.

By a 132 to 103 teller vote, the members already had rejected an amendment offered to the pending four-department appropriation bill which allocates $11,369,500 to the prohibition bureau.

Then Representative Schafer, republican, Wisconsin, and other anti-prohibitionists prepared to obtain a record vote. They intended to offer a motion to send the bill back to committee with instructions that it be reported back with the wire-tapping provision included.

Under the parliamentary situation, only one motion to recommit could be made. House rules require that members of the committee which handle legislation be recognized in preference to others.

Speaker Garner recognized Representative Cannon, democrat, Missouri, an appropriations committee member, who moved that the bill be recommitted and reported back with an amendment increasing the appropriation for the federal hospital for defective delinquents at Springfield, Mo., from $775,000 to $1,050,000.

Schafer objected to the vote by which Cannon's motion was defeated—198 to 1—that a quorum was not present. Speaker Garner could not count the necessary quorum members on the floor, so the house adjourned. On Thursday, its members must answer a roll call to vote on Cannon's motion.

When Schafer asked Garner whether the spirit of the rules of the house was being followed in a procedure that prevented the offering of "bona fide motions," the speaker replied: "There was nothing else I could do. The gentleman from Missouri is a member of the committee and had the right to be recognized."

Subsequently, Garner told newspapermen he had not known the Cannon motion was going to be offered. The house earlier had disappeared by a vote of 133 to 74 an amendment by Representative Hoyle, democrat, New York, to reduce the appropriation for liquor law enforcement from $11,369,500 to $8,369,500.

Numerous other amendments were suggested, but the portion of the pending annual four-department appropriation bill carrying funds for the prohibition bureau. One by Representative Tierney, democrat, Connecticut, which lost by a 176-to-79 vote—would have forbade federal expenditures in states which did not spend as much for enforcement as the federal government.

EIGHT TEAMS LEFT IN EASTERN FIGHT FOR BRIDGE TITLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(P)—The polite preliminary stages of the eastern contract bridge team-of-four championship ended late today, with eight teams left for the ruthless "knocking out" process that begins tomorrow.

Sixteen of the 24 teams entered for the Curt H. Reisinger trophy had been eliminated.

Virtually every player left is a top-notch, and the experts expect them to give no quarter as they continue the elimination process by weeding out four more teams tomorrow, two on Thursday and decide the championship itself Friday.

The "four horsemen"—P. Hal Sims, David Burnstine, Oswald Jacoby and Willard S. Karm—fought valiantly from behind to score 31 match points and lead their section; a Cavendish club team—Walter Malow, J. Matthews, H. Schenken and S. Stearns—rungs-up to the "horsemen" in the recent Vanderbilt cup competition, led the second section with 34 out of a possible point score of 55.

The other qualifying teams included two from the Deal (N. J.) Club and one each from the Knickerbocker Whist Club, the Brooklyn Bridge Club, the Women's Whist Club, and the Bridge World. The "horsemen" also play for the Deal Club.

The Bridge World team includes Mrs. Ely Culbertson, whose husband has forsaken tournament competition. Sidney S. Lenz and Commander Winfield Liggett failed to qualify, along with George Reith, chairman of the tournament, and Geoffrey Mott-Smith, a leading player for the Ferguson Club.

COURT REFUSES REVIEW OF DRAINAGE CASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(P)—Failure today marked the effort of the government to obtain in the supreme court a ruling on essential features of the Mississippi river flood control act.

The highest court held that the proceedings brought by Dr. Foster Kincaid Sr., owner of a farm in the Bonf basin, Louisiana, to test the questions at issue by compelling the government to condemn his land for a spillway or acquire from him drainage rights over the land, had been improperly brought.

YOUTH HIT BY ENGINE IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Frank Matthews, of Spartanburg, Has Severe Concussion of the Brain.

Frank Matthews, 24, of Spartanburg, S. C., still was in a critical condition Tuesday night from injuries received when he was struck by a locomotive Tuesday morning as he ran across the tracks under the Terminal station sheds. Doctors at Grady hospital reported that he received a severe brain concussion and a badly mangled hand.

Meanwhile two children who received severe head injuries in auto crashes were reported recovering. Barbara Currence, 3-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Currence, of 380 Augusta avenue, who Monday was carried to Georgia Baptist hospital after she had been thrown from a car onto the pavement, was carried home Tuesday.

Mr. Currence reported to police that he was driving on Cherokee avenue and that at Augusta avenue his car was struck by one driven by H. F. Sullivan, 270 Atlanta avenue, and

This One Can Qualify As 'Stupidest Robber'
LOGANSPORT, Ind., Feb. 23.—(AP)—One thief tried it though it was plain it couldn't be done.

He tried to rob a public scale on a downtown street and worked a long time to break a stanch metal case in quest of the pennies.

Then he looked at the big letters across the mirrored front; "Your weight free."

knocked into a telephone pole. The baby was thrown onto the pavement and doctors said she received a slight fracture of the skull.

Sullivan was arrested and charged with reckless driving, but released on a copy of charges.

Mrs. Currence was slightly hurt as was Miss Aline Layle, 17 years old, of Waycross, both in the car with Currence.

Mary Fowler, 5 years old, of 506 Simpson street, was in critical condition Tuesday night from injuries received when she was struck down by a car driven by Calvin Mays, a negro, who was locked up on charges of reckless driving. The child received a fractured skull, doctors said.

Harry Willis, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shearon, of 888 Edgewood avenue, was carried to Georgia Baptist hospital Tuesday afternoon for treatment of injuries received when he fell from his bicycle while riding behind a truck, hospital authorities said.

Opportunity School Student Council Pleads for Continuance of Institution

Seeking to enlist aid in avoiding the abolishment of the Atlanta Opportunity school, a group of student council members of the school Tuesday issued a statement asking retention of the institution.

The action of the students followed a proposal by the board of education Monday night to abolish the school in an effort to balance their budget. The resolution which called for the discontinuance of the opportunity school passed by a vote of 7 to 5.

Setting out that 1,300 students had enrolled since the beginning of the scholastic year, and that there are now 950 students actually enrolled, the student council representatives said that the cost of each pupil in salaries for the total enrollment amounted to $21.56. It was said that there are 373 more pupils in the active roles now than there were at this same time last year.

Basing their plea upon the fact that the city of Atlanta receives $11,500 annually in salary reimbursements from the state vocational board, the students furnished figures to show that the salaries of teachers and the office force was $20,975.20, which left $18,475.20 actual cost to the city. They went on to say that the actual cost per pupil to Atlanta was $13.22.

Explaining the activities of the opportunity school further, H. M. King, chairman of the student council, stated:

"A large number of employed youths who find that they are handicapped in life by lack of proper training are attending school part-time and are working part-time. The training they receive at school functions directly and immediately on their jobs."

"A large number of adults temporarily unemployed, who instead of walking the streets and worrying over financial conditions, are maintaining their morale, increasing their efficiency for future jobs or preparing themselves for new jobs by regular attendance in the school."

"Boys and girls who have been compelled by financial conditions to leave school and cannot re-enter them, are being trained for the future."

SCHOOL GIRL BANDIT TERRORIZES TOWN WITH WATER GUN

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 23.—(AP)—A 17-year-old high school girl armed with a water gun kept police radio squads dashing about the North Side last night answering calls from persons she had held up.

Miss Vera Wood, the water gun bandit, ended her crime career at the city prison with a broken arm. A taxicab driver, one of her victims, sensed the gun she poked in his face was not dangerous. The driver, who had given up a small sum, decided to recover it. He pursued her, struck her, breaking her arm and got his money back.

Miss Wood was arrested at the City hospital where she went to receive treatment for her arm.

She was accused of holding up a bus, two persons in an apartment, several taxicab drivers and a motorist.

CARDINAL HAYES RAPS PROHIBITION, LAUDS DEPRESSION

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Patrick Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York, arrived here today from Nassau to criticize prohibition laws and to assert his belief—unlike many other Americans—that the nation has benefited greatly from the financial depression.

Cardinal Hayes went recently to Nassau to install a prefect apostolic for the Bahamas.

"The church," he said, "teaches reasonable use of the things God has given us. But the church does not hold for prohibition except for those who cannot control their appetites. Temperance is one of the four cardinal virtues."

He said that prohibition has not succeeded and has brought abuses in its wake, and expressed the belief that people should be free to abstain if they wish, but that abstinence should not be forced upon the American citizenship as a whole.

NAME OF MRS. CLAY TO BE PUT ON TABLET

The name of the late Mrs. Robert Clay, of Decatur, mother of Mrs. Robert Ramspeck, who died February 20, has been selected from the membership of the Decatur Union, W. C. T. U., to be placed on a bronze tablets tablet which will be unveiled next June at the state W. C. T. U. headquarters on Highland avenue. It was announced Tuesday, Mrs. Clay for eight years was president of the Decatur Union and her contributions to the establishment of the state headquarters were generous.

DILL ASKS CHECKING ON POSTAL SAVINGS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Postal savings accounts would be open to checking privileges under a bill introduced in the senate today by Senator Dill (Democrat, Washington). The bill would allow checking accounts to $5,000 in addition to the present limitation of $2,500 on pass-book accounts.

"This legislation," Dill said in a statement, "will do more to stop hoarding and get money into actual circulation than all the presidential appeals and urgent insistence of bankers and citizens can possibly do."

JOBLESS DRIVE FORCES APPROACH 'ZERO HOUR'

Final Organization Meeting Set for Tonight; Campaign To Open Thursday.

The "zero hour" in the Atlanta fight against unemployment was near today, and the final organization meeting of local forces will be held during a dinner to be given more than 400 workers at 6 o'clock this evening on the roof of the Ansley hotel. Early Thursday morning the field forces of the local drive will begin a city-wide canvass of every business, industry and household in search for work for approximately 5,000 unemployed men and women in Atlanta.

For Atlanta the workers—men and women of prominence—will "go over the top" bright and early in the morning. The men will divide the city into four divisions which will be thoroughly combed for jobs among business and industrial concerns, while the women's organization will canvass the residential and small store sections in an endeavor to obtain temporary or "made" work.

Among the women who will attend the dinner at the Ansley this evening are Mrs. R. Murdock Walker, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, chairman of the women's division of the drive; Mrs. T. K. Glenn, president of the Penny Club; Mrs. Eugene Harrington, of the Junior League; Mrs. James N. Bawner, vice president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. James L. Dickey, of the Penny Club, and Mesdames J. G. C. Bloodworth, C. M. Settle, E. W. More, Howard McCutcheon, George Ripley Jr., Winfrey Ramsey, E. V. Carter, Robert C. Alston, Norman Sharp, A. H. Japanese 'Human Bombs' Clear Way for Comrades

SHANGHAI, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Three privates in the Japanese army sacrificed their lives yesterday to blast a way through barbed wire entanglements blocking the advance near Miaohung Chen.

The Japanese press union service today told how three men from an engineering battalion carried a load of high explosives out into no man's land and deliberately jumped into the wire. There was a shattering explosion which destroyed the wire, and a Japanese column advanced.

ARTICLE BY ATLANTAN IN CHEMICAL MAGAZINE

The current issue of Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering, a technical monthly, carries an interesting article, "Towers and Packings for Chemical Plants," written by Andrew M. Fairlie, well-known Atlanta consulting chemical engineer.

In his article Mr. Fairlie discusses new and modern towers and packings and goes into details regarding some of his own inventions. The article is accompanied by line drawings which explain many of the types of towers and packings discussed by Mr. Fairlie.

Mr. Fairlie's article also is supplemented by a group of tables which give data of the physical characteristics of acid-resisting ceramic materials, data on miscellaneous packings, data on hexahel blocks and curved piston rings and cyclohex blocks.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE TO FIGHT 'WET' PARTY

$100,000 Voted To Hurl Organization's Force Into Dry Battle.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 23.—(AP)—The Anti-Saloon League will throw $100,000 into a campaign to defeat the political party that nominates a "wet" for president, Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent, said here today.

The Anti-Saloon League is holding its fifth annual southern prohibition convention at the First Methodist church.

The campaign fund, McBride said, was voted by the league's national board. Additional amounts will be used if they are contributed, he said. If both parties nominate "constitutional dry candidates, the Anti-Saloon League will take no part in the campaign," McBride said. "If either party nominates a wet, however, the full support of the league, and its campaign fund, will be thrown into the fight to defeat that candidate."

GORDON SAUSSY BACK FROM CAPITAL TRIP

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Judge Gordon Saussy, chairman of the Savannah bicentennial commission, who was recently appointed on the state committee by Governor Russell, returned Tuesday from Washington, where he sought to have a bill introduced in congress for the creation of a federal commission to participate in the bicentennial at Savannah.

Judge Saussy conferred in Washington with Representatives Crisp and Vinson, of Georgia, both of whom, he reported, pledged themselves to work for the passage of the measure. The Savannah chairman has suggested to Emmett Williams, state senator, who was author of the bill creating the state commission for the bicentennial and who was appointed its chairman by Governor Russell, that a meeting of the commission be held in Savannah when Dr. Linwood Taft, present director, comes here in March. The suggestion was contained in a letter to Senator Williams today.

Farmer Raising Cotton On Last Year's Stalks

SWAINSBORO, Ga., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Sixty acres of cotton in Emanuel county, on which the stalks from last year's crop did not die, are being cultivated again by the owner, H. S. Durden, who expects to make another crop of cotton from the same stalks.

The land is about six miles from Swainsboro and is considered as fertile as any soil in the county. The stalks are now budded. Mr. Durden reports, and he is confident that his experiment, unique in farming in this section, will be a success, if a hard freeze does not come.

U. S. COURT REJECTS RECEIVERSHIP CONTEST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The supreme court Tuesday refused to review the contest between the federal receiver and trustee in bankruptcy and a state receiver for possession of the assets of the Lookout Mountain Hotel Company on Lookout Mountain, Ga.

The hotel company, a Delaware corporation owning 200 acres of land on Lookout mountain, Georgia, in April, 1927, leased 15 acres to the Lookout Mountain Hotel Operating Company, a Tennessee corporation.

The operating company conducted the hotel from May, 1928, until after the hotel company in September, 1930, went into the hands of a receiver in bankruptcy.

On September 5, 1930, the federal district court appointed Frank L. Speakman receiver in bankruptcy for the hotel company and, on September 10, 1930, appointed him ancillary receiver.

The company was declared a bankrupt on September 27, 1930, by the district court for Delaware and on November 21, 1930, Speakman qualified and took possession.

The Bank of Tennessee filed foreclosure proceedings in the Walker county (Georgia) superior court, alleging the hotel company in default and that court appointed Thomas W. Bryan, its clerk, receiver for all the property. The fifth circuit court of appeals, on November 2, 1931, reversed the district court, which had ruled in favor of the federal receiver and directed the property be turned over to the receiver of the state court.

In another case the supreme court refused to review the dispute by F. G. Coker, Atlanta, of an assessment of $15,650 made by the receiver of the First National bank of Dublin, Ga., of which Coker has been president.

LEGION HEAD DENIES CAMPAIGN SUBTERFUGE

Melton Spikes Rumors Jobless Names To Be Used in Case of War.

GRiffin, Ga., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Major Quimby Melton, state Legion commander, says false reports have been spread in some communities that persons registering for jobs in the Legion's employment drive would be called into the army in case of war.

"Reports have reached state Legion headquarters that in many communities persons out of work have been warned not to register at employment bureaus that have been set up," Major Melton said. "Persons giving this advice say that the registration is simply a subterfuge to get a list of men who would be called into the army in case of war."

"Such statements are lies made out of the whole cloth. The idea is ridiculous," he said. "I am of the opinion that this rumor has been circulated by persons who are in the employ of soviet Russia. It is a well-known fact that the greatest ally of communism is unemployment, unrest and suspicion."

"If the Legion succeeds in putting a million men back to work, taking them out of the bread lines and making them breadwinners, it will strike a death blow to the communistic hopes in this country."

"Men happily at work are not interested in strange doctrines but a man who is out of work sees no prospect of getting a job loses confidence in everything and everyone and will listen to the promise of the communists."

"I want to take this opportunity, both officially and personally, to assure everyone in Georgia that the registration of unemployed is above-board in every respect."

"The sole purpose is to find out how many people need work and then try and provide jobs for them. The tire program is under the supervision of the American Legion and has no sinister motive. We have nothing to hide. All we want is to give men and women, who want work, jobs."

CHATHAM JURY HITS
REGISTRATION SYSTEM

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Condemnation by the grand jury of the present system of permanent registration of voters may be the result of a conference between S. N. Harris, foreman of the grand jury, and J. J. Horigan and Louis Garfunkel, of the board of registrars.

Mr. Harris told the registrars he anticipated the grand jury, through its voting list committee, headed by Stewart E. Kraft, would, in its general presentations on February 29, condemn the present registration system and recommend chiefly the substitution of biennial registration instead of permanent registration.

Three recommendations for improvement of the method of handling registration and voting were made by J. J. Horigan, chairman of the registrars. They were:

Voters should register at least every two years.

Voters should register in the precincts in which they live.

The men who were registrars before election should also act as managers at election.

The chairman said registration every two years would go far toward eliminating the difficulty occasioned by removals from the state and changes of address of which the tax collector is not notified.

Citizens who change residence without notifying the tax collector of the change are not legitimate voters, said the chairman, because they are casting their votes in the wrong precincts.

Sheriff, on Stand, Describes Blast As Pearson Murder Trial Opens

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER.

'INDECENCY' CHARGED TO MOVIE INDUSTRY

Brookhart Urges Congress
To Investigate "Violations" of Anti-Trust Laws.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Charges of issuing "indecent" films, violating the anti-trust laws and raising a "smoke screen" to prevent action by the authorities were made against the motion picture industry today by Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa. He urged a senate investigation.

In presenting his resolution for a searching investigation, Senator Brookhart predicted it would equal the Teapot Dome oil inquiry "in importance to the public and in the startling nature of its revelations." He denounced the movies as having become "even more degrading" since the "Hays morality code" was promulgated by Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., "to quiet the hue and cry."

Emphasizing their effect on "the impressionable young minds of the country," Brookhart said the style in films last year was to exploit or even exalt the gangster, while this season the trend "is definitely towards prostitution."

WOMAN'S WEAKNESS

MRS. P. H. BOYD.

Valdosta, Ga.—"I was so rundown and weak a few years ago I was not able to do any of my housework," said Mrs. P. H. Jobless Men and Women Are Employed by Firestone

After a siege of unemployment, G. C. Clark (left) has gone to work under the plan of the Firestone Service Stores, Inc., of Atlanta, which today will inaugurate a sales booklet campaign, giving work to 36 men and women. Clark is shown with J. T. Rose (center), chairman of the American Legion's local relief committee, and Commander Trammell Scott, of Atlanta Post No. 1, in charge of the drive.

In conjunction with the American Legion's nationwide campaign to relieve unemployment, the Firestone Service Stores, Inc., of Atlanta, Tuesday disclosed a plan adopted by that organization whereby 36 men and women have been put to work in a sales canvass inaugurated by the stores. Details of the plan were made public by Bailey M. Allen, manager of the local Firestone organization. Booklets containing service tickets worth 25 cents to the purchaser will be given the 36 men and women to sell to the public, and beginning this morning the newly employed crews will begin a canvass of the city, offering car owners the service booklets at the face value of 25 cents.

The feature of the offer, Allen explained, is that the entire 25 cents paid by the purchaser goes to the previously unemployed salesman and the purchaser's 25 cents is refunded immediately upon the buyer's purchase of any article or automobile commodity from a Firestone Service Store. In addition, the booklet contains six service tickets which entitle the holder to a 10 per cent discount on the purchase of all classes of merchandise and auto service from the stores of the company.

The 36 men and women, Allen said, will thus be enabled to earn commissions of at least $20 a week through sale of the booklets.

"While the plan primarily is to increase our business," Allen explained, "if we can help a few unemployed men earn some revenue, we are mighty glad of the opportunity to do so. The success of the plan will give continued employment to the men, who work at our service stations."

The feature of the offer, Allen explained, is that the entire 25 cents paid by the purchaser goes to the previously unemployed salesman and the

The court declined to review a case which had its origin more than 100 years ago in the love of home, which caused a band of Cherokee Indians to refuse to leave Swain county.

In refusing to take up the suit, the court let stand a decision that the lands of the Cherokees could not be sold for delinquent taxes, citing an act passed in 1924.

Utah was upheld in its contention that it had a right to forbid the display of tobacco advertisements on billboards, but a federal law making the findings of the federal compensation commission binding on federal courts was overturned.

The court declined to review a case which sought its opinion whether the Federal Reserve Bank could order stations off the air. The refusal let stand a decision of the lower courts that the commission did have that authority.

The court decided to pass upon the validity of George Otis Smith's claim to his post as chairman of the power commission. The senate has disputed his title to the position because of a belated reconsideration by that branch of his nomination.

Granted: The dispute by the receiver of the First National bank of New Bern, N. C., of a lower court decision that Chas. J. Brinson, who had deposited money with the bank for the purchase of government bonds, had a preferred claim against the bank.

Granted: The appeal of the South Carolina Power Company challenging the validity of state taxes.

Refused: The contest between the federal receiver and trustee in bankruptcy and a state receiver for possession of the assets of the Lookout Mountain Hotel Company, on Lookout mountain, Georgia.

Refused: The damage suit brought in St. Louis against the Louisville & Nashville railroad by Mrs. Inez B. Crandall, of Evansville, Ind., for the death of her husband, an engineer, in an accident near Kinney, Tenn.

Dismissed: The suit from Louisiana arising out of an attempt to make the government acquire flowage rights in the Boeuf basin spillway.

The Chamber of Commerce today will honor J. K. Orr Sr., the oldest living president of the organization on his seventieth birthday with presentation of a birthday cake. The event will take place at an open director's meeting to be held at the Chamber of Commerce at 12:30 o'clock.

The meeting, a regular forum of the organization, will be devoted largely to the hearing of reports from various committees, and will be devoted principally to honoring Mr. Orr and the Forward Atlanta Commission, whose work was taken over at the first of the year by the Chamber's industrial bureau. The second honor guest of the luncheon today will be Walter G. Cooper, who served as secretary under the presidency of Mr. Orr in 1901, 1902 and 1903. He was 75 years old last Sunday.

Those who will speak on the program today include George W. West, Ivan Allen, N. Baxter Maddox, Leslie W. Conner, Robert P. McLarty, V. H. Kriegshaber, L. S. Gilbert, S. R. Young, M. M. Benton, Alfred C. Newell, Mrs. Nellie Nix Edwards, Dr. Rayford W. Tharpe and Alva G. Maxwell.

Funeral services for Nicholas Tuntas, 50, proprietor of the Arcade restaurant, 110 Forsyth street, who dropped dead Monday night while sitting behind the cigar counter in his cafe, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Greek Orthodox church, Father D. Papadopoulos officiating. Interment is to be in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Tuntas, a native of Argos, Greece, was one of the best known men in the city, and had been in the restaurant business here since 1904. He was widely known for his benevolence and generosity.

In addition to his wife, he survived by a daughter, Miss Chrysanthi Tuntas; a brother, Markos Tuntas, and two nephews, John Tuntas and Sam Sofas. He resided at 885 Briarcliff road. H. M. Patterson & Son are in charge of arrangements.

TEXAS VOTER TO GET HEARING ON 'OUSTER'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The appeal of L. A. Nixon, negro, of El Paso, Texas, challenging the acts of democratic judges of elections in prohibiting him from voting in democratic primary, was today set by the supreme court for reargument on March 14.

The court declined to review a tax case which had its origin more than 100 years ago in the love of home, which caused a band of Cherokee Indians to refuse to leave Swain county.

PIERCE-ARROW
offers America's finest
TWELVES
PRICED AS LOW AS
$3295
AT BUFFALO

THE PRICE is important only as it represents a new fine car value . . . in a new and ultra-modern type car.

That this car has twelve cylinders, with a capacity of 140 and 150 horsepower, is significant when coupled with the Pierce-Arrow identity . . . which means master performance, assured by the finest engineering skill and manufacturing processes known to modern motor cars.

As a single example: There are more hours of actual labor . . . incomparably fine hand-craftsmanship . . . represented in the Pierce-Arrow engine alone, than in the entire structure of most cars.

And the price attractions of the present Twelves reflect precisely the lowered present-day costs of all its extraordinarily fine materials.

Where hand-craftsmanship still endures

In the great Pierce-Arrow plants at Buffalo, New York, there is precision apparatus more delicate than the seismographs which record distant earth tremors . . . presided over by master craftsmen, whose skilled hands express Pierce-Arrow in each operation.

Camera Snapshot Used In Trapping Burglar

NASHVILLE, Ind., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Benjamin Douglas, former state entomologist, has gone in for detective work.

Following a recent robbery he placed a snapshot camera in the rear of his office and attached a cord to the door knob.

When he found his office robbed he developed the films.

Dale Sluss was arrested and denied the charge until he saw the picture. He confessed, authorities said, and implicated another man in this and other robberies.

he will file Garner's name, but presidential candidates may file until 30 days prior to the primary June 7. No fee has been assessed.

Dr. Heath wired Garner, asking if the speaker would consent for his name to be filed. Garner replied that he must "decline to make any statement of any kind touching the presidency."

MURRAY BELLIGERENT OVER GEORGIA ACTION

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Governor William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, of Oklahoma, brought his campaign for the democratic presidential nomination to Indiana today.

His first address of a non-partisan nature was delivered this afternoon, before a state convention of the Rotary Club. His opening political gun was fired tonight at a democratic rally at Monticello. The Oklahoman also is scheduled to make political speeches at Marion, Gary, Fort Wayne and Indianapolis.

Indiana no longer has a presidential preference primary.

Governor Murray, upon his arrival here, was still belligerent because he has been barred from the Georgia primary.

The governor's letter containing his declaration of candidacy was reported to have been received at Savannah after entry lists for the state primary had been closed.

"It was easy enough to set aside my letter and forget about it until too late," said Governor Murray.

He said he apparently was barred by a rule of the state committee and not by law.

"That is a misunderstanding," he said, "that it's up to the people to nominate the candidates and the state committee to help elect them. The reverse seems to be true in Georgia."

FLORIDA METHODIST ENTER GARNER NAME
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Dr. E. O. Heath, pastor of the First Methodist church, here, said today he will enter the name of John N. Garner, speaker of the house, in Florida's presidential primary.

Dr. Heath did not indicate when primary has been noted here with much interest. While no one will say that any citizen of the country is better qualified for the office of president than Mr. Garner, I can give full assurance that Mr. Howard's entry as proxy for Mr. Garner is wholly without the knowledge or acquiescence of Mr. Garner, who has repeatedly refused and still refuses to become a candidate for president. His task, which is no easy one, with a bare majority, is to run the house of representatives and he is the last man to become a party to the movement to stop the candidacy of Governor Roosevelt or anyone else.

Senator Connally stated:

"Speaker Garner knows nothing about the Georgia situation except from what appeared in the papers. As Mr. Garner's friend I know nothing about the filing by proxy of Judge Howard. I never heard of it until I read it in the paper. Mr. Garner is busy with his duties as speaker. He is in no sense a candidate. Such activity as has taken place is the result of his friends' acting of their own accord and initiative with neither inspiration nor direction from him. Neither Mr. Garner nor any of his Texas or Washington friends are responsible for any action which has been taken in Georgia."

Representative Carl Vinson, of the tenth Georgia congressional district and chairman of the important house naval affairs committee, stated that he would be for Roosevelt first, last and all the time, "no matter whose name was presented to the primary voters of Georgia."

"I do not expect to be a delegate to the Chicago convention from my state," added Representative Vinson, "and I don't know as I want to be. I would rather see one of my worthy constituents receive the honor. But Franklin Roosevelt can carry my state and I hope he is nominated."

For more than a year now, a young man who is not trying to rival or compete with the dairies has been furnishing a small but consistent clientele with a supply of goat's milk each day. J. J. Hill Jr., 161 Alexander street, is beating the economic pressure with his herd of three milk goats.

There are, surprisingly enough, 110 milk goats in Fulton county. But Hill is the only one with a dairy permit to sell milk.

These milk goats are not to be sniffed at. And don't misunderstand me. Your milk goats are all right. They are the aristocrats of goatdom. There is nothing about them reminiscent of the goats which small boys used to demand as birthday and Christmas presents in the gay nineties. These milk goats do not even claim relationship with the alley goat. There may be some but they don't admit it.

The milk goats have a history. A good milk goat will sell for $120 up to as much as $700. The milk goes for $1.20 per gallon. Which makes it a luxury. It must be cheaper in India.

Goat's milk is very fine for children, so they say. Hill's customers are all grown-ups. He had one gentleman who used to drive by and get a gallon or a quart for his child. But it turned out that the gentleman was in the business of selling wild mouse milk for cocktail parties and the law took him away for a few months.

Meanwhile the child goes without her goat's milk.

Hill knows his figures. It costs about 60 cents per day to feed a cow. It costs Hill 20 cents a day for his three goats. They are big ones, three or four times the size of Willie's goat.

Their ears would make a Georgia corn field melt ached of himself. They like to be scratched behind the ears just like a dog.

At any rate, it is good to know that Gandhi will not have to leave Atlanta off his itinerary if the British ever let him out of jail and he comes over here to lecture to the women's clubs of America. He can get a gallon of goat's milk fresh each day if he likes.

"It also is cited that many city employees and employees of other large corporations are parties to the ouster petition, but the petition is certified by council it is a matter of public record and, therefore, would be available to any publication.

"Granting that every allegation they make is true, publication of signatures of this petition would be a public service to thousands of Atlantians who are intensely interested in this matter. It would clarify the atmosphere regarding veiled reports of forgeries and would eliminate any doubt as to the validity of signatures.

"If, as the petitioners claim, there is an effort to intimidate employees and force them from their positions because they signed the recall, would it not be better to give them the opportunity of withdrawing their names before they have become parties to an actual injury to the mayor and thus incensed their employers to such an extent that their jobs, if the reports of the petition for an injunction are true, might be jeopardized?

"Proponents of this petition are willing to sacrifice hundreds of individuals to carry the recall issue, but are not willing to jeopardize in the least a recall movement in order to save those same persons whom they claim they are now seeking to defend.

"It appears to me that if proponents of the recall want to be fair and impartial and wish to take the public into their confidence in a matter in which all the public is concerned, that they would not object to, but rather would welcome publication of the entire list so as to remove any clouds which may now hover over the list as submitted.

Atlanta Qualifies for Visit From Mahatma; Goat's Milk, Famed Beverage, Now on Sale

BY RALPH MCGILL.

Goat's milk, on which Ghengis Khan, Alexander the Great, Mahatma Gandhi and other notables of past and present fame were reared, is for sale in Atlanta.

Had Alexander the Great stuck to goat's milk as a beverage he might have lasted. But he switched to more stimulating and slipped right out of the picture.

It is quite a relief to know that if Mahatma Gandhi were to visit America, the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce might promptly issue an invitation and specify that a fresh supply of goat's milk would be available each day during the visit.

For more than a year now, a young man who is not trying to rival or compete with the dairies has been furnishing a small but consistent clientele with a supply of goat's milk each day. J. J. Hill Jr., 161 Alexander street, is beating the economic pressure with his herd of three milk goats.

INJUNCTION FILED BY LABOR TO KEEP PETITIONS SECRET

ment of E. W. Dease, 1017 Capitol avenue, who said his name was obtained through a representation that he was signing a petition protesting a proposed increase in water rates.

He told Mayor Key that he never would have signed a petition to recall him, and withdrew his name from the petition.

Attorneys at the city hall Tuesday afternoon said the recall petition itself is a material part of the injunction suit and can be made a public record free for publication on demand of defense attorneys. Any part of a suit is a public record, they held, and if the demand is made, it will be mandatory on plaintiffs to make the recall petitions a part of the record, thus opening it for scrutiny of anyone who desires.

Bond Asks Publication.

Edward F. Bond, prominent undertaker, Tuesday called on proponents of the move to oust Mayor Key to "drag the recall fight out into the open instead of doing it in an underhand way," and permit publication of the names on the petitions.

He said the publication would be a public service and would remove any cloud caused by charges of forgeries or subterfuges.

Text of his communication to The Constitution, which he asked be published, follows:

State Committee Not Concerned Over Bibb's Challenge of Primary

Bibb county's challenge of the legality of the democratic presidential preference primary, called for March 23, will not be entertained by the democratic state committee, Lawrence Camp, chairman, said Tuesday. The committee will not interfere with what it views as a "purely local" fight, he said.

Camp's statement was made when General Walter A. Harris, attorney for the Bibb county board of registrars, announced in Macon that the board would not furnish to the county democratic committee a list of registered voters until after May 7. Harris contends that the state law permits registration of voters through that date.

"My recollection," Camp said, "is that there is some sort of statute governing the time limit for registration. It has been held, generally, to apply to registration for the general election although I think there is a reference to registration for primaries in the same connection."

"Nevertheless, a number of primaries already have been held in Georgia for the selection of local officers and, I understand, this is the bone of contention in Bibb county. The committee is authorized to make such rules and regulations as it deems necessary for holding a primary and this authority is inclusive enough to permit fixing a definite date regardless of the law governing the general election.

"The committee had such a situation as has developed in Bibb in mind when it wrote into the rules adopted at the Macon meeting the following: 'In the event any county in the state fails to hold a primary election in conformity with this resolution, the candidate who receives a majority of county unit votes in the primary shall have the right to select delegates and alternates from those counties not holding primary elections, such selection to be made as provided by this resolution.'"

Bibb election officials construed the ruling of General Harris to mean that a presidential primary could not be held in that county. Asked by E. P. Johnston, chairman of the Bibb county committee, for advice as to what steps to take next, Camp took the position that the challenge only affected Bibb county and would have to be settled there. It is not, he said, a matter for the state committee to pass upon since, in its 1932 rules, it anticipated such a challenge.

The Bibb county board of registrars will hold a public meeting at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, when it will be decided whether Bibb shall hold its primary on March 23, as scheduled, or in June.

Breadlines Unnecessary In Mexico, Woman Finds

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(UP)—The great humanitarian spirit of the Mexican people makes breadlines unnecessary in Mexico, Mrs. Leopold Stokowski, wife of the conductor of the Philadelphia Philharmonic orchestra, said Monday in summing up her visit in that country.

"If anyone meets with misfortune, his relatives or neighbors care for him," Mrs. Stokowski said. "This is the sort of life we had in America not so long ago, in rural America, where your neighbors came in and helped you husk your corn, and you helped them," she said.

"I asked Mexicans about the lack of breadlines and they told me the level of economic life, the needs of the people were very simple. The national food is the tortilla, made of corn, and as long as a Mexican had one of these he is satisfied. They give away tortillas."

MOSES SCORNS IDEA OF BOYCOTT ON JAPS

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 23.—(AP)—America, Senator George H. Moses said today, will not boycott Japan for its military activities in China.

The republican New Hampshire senator, member of the foreign relations committee of the senate and supporter of the administration, said nothing would come of the proposal of a group of prominent Americans that the United States join the League of Nations and an economic boycott of the Japanese.

Of the possibility that the United States might be drawn into the conflict now centered at Shanghai, Senator Moses said: "I think the most that will happen will be a paper bombardment."

Referring to the proposed participation of the United States in an economic boycott of Japan which President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard; President Ernest Martin Hopkins, of Dartmouth College, and others have indicated they would approve, Senator Moses said:

"Nothing will come of that proposal for two reasons. The first reason . . . is the reluctance of congress to take any such drastic action and, of course, congressional action would be necessary to make it effective."

"The second reason is that there are too many American businessmen who take the somewhat morbid view, 'Let 'em fight and we'll sell them goods.'"

"This may be a rather low point of view from the moral side," he continued, "but it is nevertheless the view of a very great many of our businessmen today."

UNITED JEWISH APPEAL TO OPEN HERE TONIGHT

$15,000 Drive Will Be Launched Following Appearance of Rabbi Silver.

Official opening of the campaign in Atlanta to raise this city's quota of $15,000 in the $6,000,000 United Jewish Appeal will follow the appearance here tonight of Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, of Cleveland, who will deliver an address at the temple at 8 o'clock. Funds raised will be used to alleviate suffering among Jews of the world.

Rabbi Silver, who is internationally known as a lecturer, will address a mass meeting in the temple following a dinner in his honor, to be held at 6 o'clock.

Harold Altshul, of New York, supervisor of the national campaign of the movement, before leaving Atlanta Tuesday, explained that the campaign has a threefold purpose—to raise $2,500,000 for the joint distribution fund which will be applied toward relief of Jews in central Europe and the near east, including all human welfare work; $2,500,000 for the Palestine work; and $1,000,000 for the B'nai B'rith "wider scope" program sponsored by the 16 Hillel foundations in the United States and abroad, and which consist of cultural centers in various universities.

Sam E. Levy has been appointed active chairman of the Atlanta campaign, with Harold Hirsch, Henry Alexander and J. Sol as honorary chairmen, while the following "captains" are in charge of all local contact work: Julian Boehm, David Meyer, Harold Marcus, Jack Winkler, Max Cuba and Frank Constanzy.

Masons Plan Washington Tribute In Programs Today and Thursday

Masons of Atlanta will pay honor to George Washington, himself a Mason, today and Thursday in many lodges in Atlanta and Georgia in connection with the bicentennial celebration of the birth of Washington. Notable speakers and dignitaries will be present to extol the principles of the "Father of His Country" as citizen and as brother Mason.

Today at 12:30 o'clock the Atlanta Masonic Club will celebrate Washington Day and with the members of Decatur lodge also will celebrate Decatur Day. Attorney-General George M. Napier will be the speaker on "George Washington—The Mason." The meeting will be held on the mezzanine floor of the Wincoff hotel.

William B. Clarke, of Savannah, deputy grand master of Masons in Georgia, will be honor guest and principal speaker of Malta Lodge No. 641, tonight at the Masonic temple. He will speak on "The Ideals of the Masonry of Brother George Washington."

ATLANTAN'S BROTHER GIVEN DEGREE IN ITALY

Dr. Gioacchino Arnone, professor of special medical pathology, of Palermo, Sicily, has been granted a degree of professor in medical radiology by the Roman radiological commission.

Dr. Arnone was the only one of a number of applicants granted the commission without being forced to take a special examination. He is a brother of A. Arnone, well-known Atlanta tailor.

Fisher Bodies are exclusive to Chevrolet in the lowest price field

ALL THAT is new, smart and desirable in fine modern coachwork—is represented by the phrase Body by Fisher. And today, the only car of lowest price to offer Fisher coachwork is the new six-cylinder Chevrolet.

Examine this car carefully—front, side, rear, inside—and you'll discover one evidence after another of Fisher's master craftsmanship! Notice the lines—the same long, clean, ultra-modern streamlines you've admired so much on custom cars. Observe the details of styling—the graceful sloping of the front pillars; and the way the cowl and windshield frame are constructed in one smooth piece, without seams or joints. Step inside and you'll get many pleasant surprises—for Chevrolet interiors are complete with modern comfort-features and conveniences: a finger-touch adjustable driver's seat; an interior sun visor; broad "lounge-type" seats; and a wide expanse of vision for all occupants. Notice how easily Chevrolet doors are opened by the new automatic door ejector. See how obviously solid and substantial is the Fisher composite wood-and-steel construction. Mark, also, how massive and well-fitted are Chevrolet doors. Slam them hard, and, instead of a metallic noise, you get that welcome solid sound which tells you "This is the finest of coachwork."

The truth is—Chevrolet and Fisher have achieved in these bodies the best-looking, best-built, most completely equipped line ever to appear in the lowest price field. Along with Syncro-Mesh shift, Free Wheeling, and other remarkable features, these new Fisher bodies are again making Chevrolet America's most popular motor car.

CAPITAL UNIVERSITY HONORS U. S. OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(AP)—A score of men, including several distinguished in the national service, received honorary degrees last night from George Washington University in exercises commemorating the school's 111th year.

Patrick Hurley, the secretary of war; George B. Cortelyou, who sat in Roosevelt's cabinet; Ambassador Deering; to Peru; Nelson T. Johnson, minister to China, and Senator Hastings, of Delaware, were among the recipients.

"B.C." Relieves Head Cold Pains In Three Minutes

A simple head cold often produces intense suffering from headache, neuralgia, etc., and you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B.C.," a reliable, pleasant acting remedy.

"B.C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time.

"B.C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, reducing fever, and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit-forming drugs. Get "B.C." wherever drugs are sold in 10c and 25c packages.—(adv.)

FRANKLIN'S CONDITION REPORTED AS SERIOUS

The condition of J. Henry Franklin, widely known Atlanta businessman who suffered a stroke of paralysis Saturday afternoon, was reported still serious at Piedmont hospital Tuesday night, but it was said that the patient was resting "fairly comfortably."

Mr. Franklin was driving home Saturday afternoon when he was stricken. He collapsed on the sidewalk on Habersham road, and lay unconscious and unnoticed in the rain throughout the night and until 9 o'clock Sunday morning. No complications from the long exposure were noted by doctors Tuesday, it was said.

Leading Lady at Erlanger Praises Young Generation

ETHEL INTROPIDI

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Ethel Intropidi believes the young generation of today is just about the finest generation that has yet graced this old world of ours. Just in case you don't remember, Miss Intropidi is playing the principal role in "The House Beautiful," Channing Pollock's lovely play of middle-class idealism that is now at the Erlanger theater.

"I have no patience with people who are always criticizing youth," Miss Intropidi said in her dressing room between acts Tuesday night. "These critics forget that older people belong to another, and a passing, generation and no matter what they may say or what they may do they can't live the lives of youth for them. All young people I know are splendid—the only criticism I have to make of any of them is that they are sometimes too serious and deep in their thinking for the more frivolous older folk."

Miss Intropidi is the descendant of a long and famous line of theater people. "Older theatergoers still remember her mother. An uncle of her's was a famous musical director in his day, and the name, Intropidi, is inherited from an Italian opera singer of several generations back who was a popular star in her day."

"I love Mr. Pollock's play more than any I have ever played in," she said. "Its delicious idealism is so beautiful you can't help being affected by it. And when you are, you simply know that the world is a grand old place after all, that heroism still lives among the human beings you meet every day. And that is a simply gorgeous belief to carry with one every day."

U. S. COURT TRIAL IN NEBRASKA ASKED ABOLITION OF JUDGES' POWER IN LABOR DISPUTES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(UP)—A cry for the end of "tyranny" by federal courts was raised today by Senator George W. Norris, republican, Nebraska.

He made the plea in opening the first senate floor fight for abolition of the arbitrary power of judges to issue "yellow-dog" contracts.

At the end of this two-hour address, Norris singled out for special criticism Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, of Chicago, whose nomination to be a circuit judge is now before the judiciary committee.

He challenged anyone to question whether Mr. Wilkerson's injunction of 1928, forbidding musicians to leave the employ of their employers at the termination of their contract without employers' consent, "was not in effect an order of involuntary servitude."

"Too often," he added, "presidents are nominated in the week, small hours of the night, in a dingy smoky atmosphere where the musical tinkle of clinking glasses is heard amid the booming of flying corks."

Norris argued this process often places on the federal bench "tools of the corporations," and that such a nomination is a "judicial poison" necessary in passing upon the disputes between capital and labor.

The contempt hearing section of the bill, applying both to alleged violators of labor injunctions and to newspaper editors cited for contempt, authorized a jury trial except when the alleged contempt or violation is committed in or to the court itself.

Norris explained that a special provision has been added for cases of newspapers cited for things said in their columns, requiring a change of judges if the defendants ask it.

Manchester, Here To Aid Brother, Sobs With Joy at News of Respite

Leeman Anderson, secretary to Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., sat at his desk early Tuesday morning gazing through a large pile of mail. A youth approached the desk. He appeared tired and looked as if he hadn't slept for several nights. Otherwise he was neat and dignified. Anderson looked up from his work.

"My name's Manchester, Elmer Manchester," the youth said. "I'd like to see the governor."

"The governor is very busy," Anderson told him. "What is the nature of your business?"

"I'd like to ask him to do something for my brother, Earl Manchester," the youth responded. "He's sentenced to the state prison for life."

"Oh, you mean the young fellow in Macon," Anderson said. "Didn't you know that he was granted a respite yesterday and won't die Friday after all?"

The secretary's visitor burst into tears of joy. In a few minutes he was smiling and Governor Russell's secretary was telling him that Judge Louis L. Brown, of the Bibb superior court circuit, Monday had permitted to be filed his lawyer's extraordinary motion for a new trial thereby setting aside the death penalty and giving the slayer of James B. Parks another chance.

"I had not heard about it," Elmer Manchester said. "I left Detroit Sunday and came to Atlanta on a bus. I got in an hour ago and came straight here hoping I would get Governor Russell to grant Earl a commutation."

As he finished his story he ran from Anderson's office to catch a bus for Macon to see his brother.

More than three years ago Earl Manchester was convicted of murder in connection with the slaying of young Parks, a roomer at the boarding house of Mrs. Sarah Powers. The state contended that Mrs. Powers instigated the killing for young Parks' insurance and that Manchester was the actual slayer. Mrs. Powers is now serving a term of life imprisonment at the state prison farm.

It was learned Tuesday that the action of Judge Brown Monday does not mean necessarily that Manchester will get a new trial. The judge merely gave the youth's attorneys permission to file their extraordinary motion and fixed a hearing on it for March 17. This action automatically stayed the death sentence. If the judge refuses to grant the motion after the hearing a new date for the execution will have to be set.

Mistrial Ordered.
LAURENS, S. C., Feb. 23.—(AP)—A mistrial was declared by Judge S. W. H. Shipley today in the murder trial of Henry Rasco, 45; Lathan Crisp, 37, and Eugene Crisp, 26.

"HOUSE BEAUTIFUL" AT MATINEE TODAY

"Everybody's matinee," an innovation in the way of popular-priced performances, will be inaugurated today at the Erlanger theater with a performance of Channing Pollock's play, "The House Beautiful." Monday night's large audience acclaimed this latest work from the prolific pen of Channing Pollock as one of the finest stage achievements seen here in many a day. The staging of the play is unique. The curtain never falls until the end of each act. Yet scene after scene is silently changed on a darkened stage, carrying the story on from one period in life to another without a break. "The House Beautiful" is altogether one of the most beautiful contributions to the modern stage. The engagement at the Erlanger will conclude with a performance tonight.

Immediately following "The House Beautiful" comes Atlanta's finest musical show of the season, "The Tunes of the Town," presented by an all-star cast, is everywhere being acclaimed as without question the finest "Student Prince" ever sent on tour.

With its three nationally known stars—George Hassell, Allan Prior and Gertrude Lang—headed a company numbering 100, including a student chorus of 45 voices, Atlanta may feel assured of four performances that will bring joy to the hearts of all music lovers. Seats for three night performances and the Saturday matinee are now on sale at the Erlanger box office, which opens daily at 10 a. m.

NON-PARTISANSHIP IDEA STRESSED BY LEAGUE

Taxpayers Group Bars Officeholders, Candidates as Officers.

Political candidates and holders of public office, although invited to become members on the same basis as any other citizens, are disqualified, along with their families and employees, from holding any official position in the taxpayers' league, according to resolutions adopted by the organization committee at its meeting Tuesday night at league headquarters, 52 Broad street, N. W.

The sense of the resolutions, which were offered by R. C. Misset in efforts to stress the non-partisanship of the organization and as an evidence of the fact that the league is not being formed to further individual political fortunes, will be embodied in the constitution and by-laws to be drawn for submission to the membership for ratification.

A report by G. M. Stout, acting executive secretary, to the effect that 1,031 have signed the league's promise to vote since headquarters were opened a week ago, especially commended, Gordon Mitchell and J. H. Hillman for their activities in bringing in new members.

The featured inspirational address of the meeting was that of Edgar Neely, chairman of the league's speakers' bureau. Enthusiastic talks also were made by Gordon Mitchell, and Robert C. Misset.

SPIRITED ADDRESSES MARK THREE RALLIES

Keen interest Tuesday night continued to be exhibited in two departmental races as the 21 aspirants for the seven contested positions for which nominations will be made March 9 in the Fulton county primary delivered addresses from three stumps. About 1,000 persons heard the speakers.

Edwin F. Johnson's contest for re-nomination against Guy A. Moore, a former deputy, and J. Walton Simmons' effort for another term in the face of opposition of B. C. "Bud" Broyles furnished the political fireworks.

Moore hit at Johnson's record, and Moore George, one of Johnson's deputies, defended it.

"Mr. Johnson exhibited his record," Moore said. "I have attacked it from several stumps, but I have never attacked Mr. Johnson's personal character. I say I am the best man for that position."

Moore changed his mind about Edwin Johnson," George said in answer to Moore. "He told the people of Fulton county four years ago, when he was a deputy on the ticket, that Johnson was the man for the job. He stamped the county for Mr. Johnson and proclaimed his record as a county commissioner and his ability to fill the position. Now he attacks the county commission record after he quit Johnson's employ to run for Johnson's job."

Broyles attacked Simmons' record again, and Simmons retaliated.

Three other rallies are slated for tonight—a Broyles meeting at Crew street, a Cochran-for-commissioner rally at Harris school and another set to at South Bend school. All are slated for 7:30 o'clock.

BRITAIN PLACES CORN, COAL ON FREE LIST

LONDON, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in the house of commons tonight that corn, raw copper, potash, coal, coke and bricks would be placed on the free list of British imports exempted from Great Britain's general 10 per cent tariff.

Explaining the exemption of coal and coke from the payment of duties, the chancellor said although they were not imported in any great quantity there was a provision in the United States that where these articles were subject to an import duty in any country there would be a countervailing duty on that country's exports to the United States.

As Great Britain exported a certain amount of coal to America, the government thought it desirable to put coal and coke on the free list.

Miss Winifred Sloat Weds Raiford Wilhelms at Church

The wedding of Miss Winifred Belle Sloat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sloat, and Raiford Carl Wilhelms took place Tuesday at the Ormeau Park Presbyterian church in the presence of relatives and friends. The bride wore a gown of white tulle, and carried a bouquet of pink roses tied with tulle. The little flower girls, Reba and Margaret Coker, wore frocks of pink and blue, and carried baskets of white roses and sweet peas. The best man was Samuel Hayman. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, H. C. Sloat, wore a gown of blue crepe and carried a bouquet of white calla lilies, her only ornament being a strand of crystals. The young couple left for a wedding trip and on their return will reside at 557 Moreland avenue.

ROBBIE LEADS HIS TRIBE AWAY.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

What you must do to delay: There's nothing to be gained that way.

—Robbie the Rat.

Robbie the Rat is an outcast and all his family are outcasts. They always have been and probably always will be. You see, dreadful as it may seem, there appears to be no good in them. They are hated by man and they are just as much hated by their neighbors in fur and feathers. No one has a good word for them. They have no friends. This is their own fault. There is no one to blame but themselves. They live by stealing from others. They are dirty in their habits, bold, ugly and savage. So they have no friends, not even one. Their own cousins hate them. And they don't care. No, sir, they don't care.

They are quite sufficient unto themselves. They are loyal to each other and stick together and seem to delight in making other people dislike them as much as possible. So in times of trouble they have only each other to turn to. This has made them very cunning and smart and, with their boldness and willingness to live in places no one else would think fit to live in, has enabled them to do more mischief in the Great World than all other folk together.

So when Robbie discovered that Mr. and Mrs. Monkey-face, the Barn Owls, had a nest and family in Farmer Brown's barn he knew that this was no place for him and his family to longer make their home. It was too dangerous. They must move and move at once. So he called together the family, the children, the grandchildren, the aunts, the uncles, the brothers, the sisters and the cousins and told them just what he had found out and just what the danger was.

"If there were but one Owl here we might stay by being extra careful," said he. "We might even stay with two Owls here. But with two Owls and a big family of growing babies to be fed this is no place for us. We must move and do it without delay. Not only must we leave this barn but we must leave this neighborhood. We must go where the Owls are not likely to follow and find a new home."

"Won't such a journey be very dangerous?" inquired a timid young Rat.

"Yes, but not so dangerous as remaining here," replied Robbie. "Of course if you want to remain here it is your privilege to do so. As for me and Mrs. Robbie and the children who are at home, we are going to move."

"When do we go?" asked another.

"Today when the sun is brightest," replied Robbie.

At this there was a chorus of protests, for the days of the Rat are days of darkness and he fears the light lest he be seen. Robbie grinned. "No Rat goes out in daylight if he can help it unless he knows that no enemy is about," said he. "Therefore enemies are never on the watch for us in the middle of the day. These Owls will be asleep then. Kiddy Fox will not be around. Much as we dislike the light, it will be the safest time for us to move."

Why So Many Take Black-Draught

There are good reasons why so many people prefer Theodor's Black-Draught—why it is their favorite laxative.

They like its thorough, cleansing action.

They like that "better feeling the next morning"—a refreshed feeling after the release of intestinal poison.

And the low cost of Black-Draught is another point in its favor. You are really buying medicine when you buy Black-Draught, as the sealed container, in which the medicine is sold, costs only a small fraction.

Its light weight has saved expensive freight bills. Black-Draught is packaged, weighed and sealed by machine. It is because of these savings in favor of Black-Draught that it is sold at drug stores.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I love my wife, have been true to her, and have done everything I could to make her happy. We have been married for a number of years. Before our two little girls were born it was my misfortune to hold a position that required my absence from home. My wife became involved in an affair with another man. He died and she went to live with him. That was nine years ago. I realize now from the way she behaves that she is involved again. This time with a married man who has a wife and children. I don't believe in divorce and besides that consideration I hate to do anything that will bring disgrace on my children. I feel that I can't endure it much longer, that I will have to run away to avoid the consequences of this second offense. Please help a perplexed husband.

ANSWER:

The wisest horse recognizes the hand of authority on his bridle and the wisest woman knows her master's voice. If you are to save your home from complete wreck, you must assume command of the situation and give your wife to understand that you will not submit to her outrageous conduct another day. Naturally you wish to avoid publicity for the sake of the children but it is a question which is better for the children—for them to know the truth, namely that their mother is an immoral woman, or for them to grow up with the idea that her manner of life could be condoned by decent people. The teacher that taught the policy of turning the other cheek taught also that such a sin as your wife commits against the marriage vow was a heinous crime and one meriting punishment. A man can't keep his self-respect and permit his wife to betray him before his children. A man can't expect his children to grow up with proper ideas of decency or delicacy in a home where the mother observes neither. I am not recommending divorce, nor even suggesting that you should divorce your wife.

I am suggesting that you should use every means at your command to put a stop to this affair. From your letter I assume that you are not taking any steps but rather are considering running away from your responsibility in the matter. Such a course, if pursued by you, would be the greater injustice to your little daughters, a far greater injustice than exposing their mother would be. In the instance you hazard their present peace of mind in the other you hazard their characters and their right to grow up into respectable womanhood.

This is a trying experience for a man that loves his wife and has remained true to her and done what he could to make her happy. It is one of the bitterest experiences that he can know. But he owes it to his children to meet the experience bravely and to consider their ultimate welfare before he considers his own peace and happiness.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kincaid Jr. entertained at a bridge-supper last evening at their home on Oakdale road, honoring Miss Mary Elizabeth Warren and Dr. Joseph Read, whose marriage will be an interesting event taking place in March. The hosts were assisted in entertaining by their mother, Mrs. George Steffner. A color scheme of white and green was carried out in the table appointments and spring flowers featured the decorations throughout the reception. Miss Warren was presented with a miniature bride dressed in white satin and real lace, wearing a dainty veil and carrying a tiny bouquet.

Kentucky Club Meets.

The Kentucky Club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. T. Guy Woolford at 402 Wesley Memorial church, with Mrs. Banks Whiteman and Mrs. F. L. Connelly as co-hostesses. Mrs. W. F. Minnich, president of the club, presided. A Washington birthday party featured the entertainment for the afternoon. Miss Ann Mitchell rendered dance numbers, and Miss Frances Butler reported current events in Kentucky. Tea was served after the program.

Mrs. Byrley Directs Bridge Tournament.

Woman's auxiliary to the Fulton County Medical Society is sponsoring a series of benefit bridge tournaments and lectures, directed by Mrs. John H. Byrley, and the second of the series, held Friday at the Academy of Medicine on Prescott street, was well attended. The constructive lecture preceding the game dealt with valuing the hand for honor tricks and proved to be greatly beneficial. While it is evident that a better plan would be to follow the series consistently, it is not wholly necessary, and reservations for new tables can be made for one or several of the tournaments.

Mrs. Byrley, assisted by her son, Jack Byrley, aids the players and advises them concerning unusual distributions, etc., throughout the playing. North and south winners in Friday's game were Mrs. H. H. Askew and Mrs. T. L. White; for east and west, honors went to Mrs. E. A. Bancher and Mrs. C. W. Roberts. Reservations for future tournaments to be held early in March may be made through Mrs. Olin S. Cofer, Dearborn 3095.

Bicentennial Program.

Speech Arts Club of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression, 402 Wesley Memorial church, closed its celebration of the bicentennial of George Washington's birth last evening with a banquet and program. The guest speaker was Dr. O. P. Gilbert, editor of the Christian Index. Among others speaking and paying tribute to Washington were Miss Lillian Alexander, Miss Stella Murry, Ovid Bush Jr., John Shultz, Mrs. Eula Howe, F. E. Bates, W. H. Meacham and Dr. Watson, president of the school. The program was presided over by Mrs. Eula Howe, program chairman. The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday at 6 o'clock in the studio of the school, 402 Wesley Memorial church.

Culbertson on Contract

The Lady and the Play

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst
BY ELY CULBERTSON.

Those who have read my writings on Contract Bridge know that I have frequently stated that the average woman Bridge player plays better than her husband. This is not only true as to the average, but in many cases women qualify in the expert class. The hand below gave an opportunity for a lady in Ann Arbor, Mich., to disclose her ability to correctly execute that extremely rare play, the Grand Coup. The hand and bidding was:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠	K J 5	♥	9 8 5
♦	A K Q 10 6 5	♣	A 9 8 7 6
♠	K J 3	♥	A 10 9 8 7
♦	7 5	♣	A Q 10 4
♠	8 7 2	♥	Q 2
♦	5 3 2	♣	Q 8 4
♠	7 5	♥	A 10 9 8 7

The Bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♥	Pass	3♥	Pass
3♠	Pass	5♠	Pass
Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

It might be remarked in passing that, perhaps the bidding disclosed the weakness of the sex in succumbing to the lure of diamonds when there was a safe game in spades and particularly in this true view of the fact that had East not been in such a hurry to cash the two Aces, the contract could have been defeated. However, human nature is human nature and I myself with less reason have found the caress of such a diamond suit impossible to resist.

As the hand was played, the Ace of clubs was first led and then the Ace of hearts. East then continued the club suit and North won with the King and laid down the Ace of diamonds, only to receive the unpleasant news that all five adverse diamonds were held by West. It is apparent that unless the hand can be developed to produce a Grand Coup, West must make a trump trick. So the King of spades was led, overtaken by the Ace and then the nine of diamonds led from the Dummy. West did not cover and North played a small diamond. Now the King of hearts was led and trumped in the North hand. The Dummy was re-entered by leading the three of spades to the Ten, the Queen of hearts led and the Queen of clubs. West, in the closed hand, The Knave of hearts was then led and West was helpless. He could have discarded or trumped, but it is immaterial. In the actual play he discarded his remaining spade, North also discarded his remaining spade. On the eleventh trick South led the Queen of clubs. West was forced to trump and North overtrumped with the Ten and picked up the Knave and eight with the remaining high trumps.

The contract could have been defeated by correct defensive play. East should have led the Ace of clubs and West should have played the seven to the first trick. East should then have continued with the club suit and when he regained the lead with the heart Ace, as he necessarily must before North has an opportunity to execute the coup. East should have led another round of clubs, giving West the opportunity to trump and defeat the contract.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Ownership of a Trick Gathered by Wrong Side—When Claim by Rightful Owner Must Be Made.

LAW 35 (d)

Question: Contract, South Dealer. Contract four hearts. To the second lead of clubs, Declarer played a spade, at the moment, thinking spades were trump, and gathered the trick, although the trick was actually won by the adversaries. After 3 tricks had been played, one of the adversaries said to Declarer, "You played a spade on the second club trick." South made five-odd, including the club trick, "trumped" with a spade. While attention was called to Declarer's error before the recording of the score for the current hand, neither side knew whether Declarer was entitled to the extra trick. What is the ruling?

Answer: While the adversaries did not directly claim the trick gathered in error by Declarer, under the facts stated, Declarer was not entitled to the trick. Both sides seem to desire a ruling. Law 35 (d), in part as follows, governs the case.

"All tricks gathered by a side should be kept together and so arranged that the number thereof may be observed, and the identity of each trick readily established. A trick gathered by the wrong side may be claimed by the rightful owners at any

FIRST SPORTS EACH DAY

Jim Londos and Pat O'Shocker Clash Tonight at Auditorium; Tech Five Beats Georgia, 25 to 23, With Last-Minute Rally

BREAK of the DAY

Oh, Governor, how could you?
Will someone please look what the governor of Kentucky has gone and done?
Making Jack Dempsey a colonel and an aide-de-camp, when James Joseph Tunney is just a major!

And can you picture Gene, clicking those heels as every marine corps boot learned to do, and bringing up that right hand at an angle of 45 degrees, touching the hat brim just over the right eye—giving Colonel Dempsey the salute?

A picture no artist can paint. And I couldn't imagine it, either. It's a typical Kentucky trick, this colonel act. There are so many Kentucky colonels that they have to declare saluting moratoriums.

It is a well-known fact that every Kentucky colonel has large biceps on the right arm. They got that way from lifting bourbon in the old days and from saluting each other in these more modern days when the south, sir, has gone dry.

Colonel William Harrison Dempsey requests that Major James Joseph Tunney—Sez You!!!

THE OLD GRAY MARE.

Still, Kentucky isn't so kind to her colonels just now. This Kentucky colonelship may fly up and hit Dempsey a lick right in his billfold.

Because Kentucky seems to have become tired of having so many colonels. Some iconoclast in the legislature has introduced a bill which would impose a tax of $100 on each colonel. The question is whether the title is worth what the boys call a "C" note.

But I will say this, if every Kentucky colonel were to be taxed $100 the state debt would be lifted and there would be enough left over to get Kentucky out of the mud. And onto pavement.

BOXING—TECH VS. GEORGIA.

They may meet after all, the Tech and Georgia boxers. Georgia is sending some of the same weight to the meeting at Charlottesville that are to be found on the Jacket boxing team.

The two schools would meet here if there were not too many professional fight managers, of the small fry variety, who would be seeking to take the boys out of schools with some bum visions of big money.

The curious thing about boxing in Virginia is that the University of Virginia Athletic Association annually clears about $17,000 on its boxing. Which is a pretty good net figure and one that a lot of professional promoters in the south would like to make.

THERE IS A DESTINY.

"There is a destiny that shapes our ends, rough-hew them as we will," said the bard in the village of Avon. And sport tournaments, golf, billiards, basketball and all the others seem to prove the assertion.

Kentucky's basketball team, on the eve of coming to Atlanta for the tournament, finds two men suffering with the after-effects of influenza. This may mean the difference in a game on Friday.

A sprained ankle here, a cold there and the tournament may easily provide a new and unexpected champion. That's what adds to the interest. Anything may happen.

WHAT ABOUT STRIB?

One wonders about W. L. (Young) Stribling, who is to fight Ernie Schaaf Friday night in Chicago.

Last week when W. L. was here he looked great. The lines of worry were gone from his face. He looked cheerful and was. His weight had come back.

When he climbed into the ring that sultry night in July with the big, red lights of the blimps winking over the Cleveland stadium, he looked drawn terribly tired. Somehow Georgia hasn't warmed up to this Schaaf fight. There isn't any interest.

LONDOS HERE TONIGHT.

Jim Londos appears tonight against Pat O'Shocker in what should be a magnificent attraction. Londos gives some great scenes in his matches.

Londos comes to Atlanta largely because of a friendship for Henry Weber, the matchmaker. Goodness knows there are many larger cities in the east and west offering more money.

Weber has built up wrestling here to where it is on a fair sort of footing. And now there are some who seem pretty envious. One wonders why they didn't step in two and a half years ago when the sport was as dead as a doornail, which has always been a simile for positive deadness, and do some promoting then, instead of waiting until someone else had built up the game?

TILDEN'S RACKETS.

I wondered about Big Bill Tilden's rackets. When I went up to his room to see him while here for that tennis exhibition he had two great stacks of them held together by a rack.

And that night he seemed to use the same one. All through the singles match with Hans Nusslein and the doubles. And I wondered how come all those rackets.

And now it comes in an interview. It's just one of those idiosyncrasies that all great men have. He carries lots of them and uses the same one until it breaks. And there's Rene LaCoste, the Frenchman, who uses a new one for every set, which brings his expense account away up yonder.

JUST LIKE TEACHER.

A group of young ladies, along about 6 or 7 years old (I never could be sure about a lady's age), visited the sports department in charge of their teacher Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Ed Nixon was on the sports copy desk and busy with pencil on a bit of copy.

"Oh, look," said one of the young ladies, "he's correcting mistakes like teacher."

JIMMY LONDOS, PAT O'SHOCKER CLASH TONIGHT

Irishman Seen as Strong Foe for "Thees Jeem."

Jim Londos, world's champion wrestler, will defend his title tonight at the auditorium against Pat O'Shocker, the red-headed Irishman from Utah.

The match, one of the best ever scheduled for Atlanta, will go on after a semi-windup and an opening preliminary. In the semi-windup will be found Steve Znoski, young Boston heavyweight, pitted against Milo Steinborn, the world's strongest wrestler.

O'Shocker, who is several years younger and 20 pounds heavier than Londos, is rated as one of the better heavyweights. He has several years' experience and is the best man Londos has ever met here.

CHAMP FAVORED.

The odds will be in favor of the champion winning in straight falls but O'Shocker has expressed himself as believing he has a chance to win. He is determined to win at least one fall.

If O'Shocker wins a fall he will be doing something no wrestler has been able to do since the Greek took the title. His shoulders have not been pinned in about two years. He has met them all and not once has his title been in jeopardy.

O'Shocker holds decisions over Tom Mott and other grapplers of note. He is well-known to Atlanta fans. His appearance against Londos is the big match of the indoor season.

The semi-windup match brings in the one they love to hate in the person of Milo Steinborn, the big strong fellow. The fans all like to see Milo perform. His tremendous strength is always good for a show. He tosses off opponents by lifting them in the air. And he flings them off at will when they attempt to get a toe hold or a crab hold. Wrestlers who can stay away from Milo and his bear hug for 30 or 45 minutes have a chance to win.

Znoski will appear as a favorite. He is popular with the crowds here who like his aggressive style.

Tickets may be purchased at Davidson-Daxon's and at the Piedmont Hotel until 5 o'clock. Better seats may be obtained by purchasing them early. Ladies are admitted at a reduced price.

King Levinsky Here, Lauds Jack

King Levinsky, Jack Dempsey's youthful opponent in the record indoor four-round bout at Chicago last Tuesday night, considers the ex-champion Max Baer a hustler and a liar. He believes that he can beat him any old time.

He is slower than he was in his prime, but he can still hit. Levinsky stated yesterday in Atlanta, where he paused for a few minutes en route to Florida with his sister-manager, Mrs. Lena Levy, and other members of his family.

They were driving through to Miami for a five-week vacation.

Commenting on the Dempsey bout, the Chicago "fish peddler" said the old mauler nailed him with a left hook to the chin in the first round that shook him up considerably, but he figured he evened things in the fourth round with a hard jolt to the champion's jaw.

"The Kingfish" said further that while Dempsey is still a great puncher, he believes that he can beat him decisively, and that in an eight-round bout he would knock him out.

Levinsky also predicted that Stribling would outpoint Ernie Schaaf at Chicago in their fight Friday night.

Mrs. Levy, manager of the Chicago "fish peddler," declared that the decision in the bout with Carnera was unjust to her brother, and that he had given Max Baer a busted nose as a souvenir in their fight.

Levinsky is 21 years old and has been fighting 2 1/2 years. His sister was enthusiastic in predicting a great future for him, and wants to match him with Mickey Walker and Max Baer.

"He can lick them both," Mrs. Levy said.

Jack Defeats Frankie Wine.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 23.—(AP) Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, easily outpointed Frankie Wine, blacksmith from Butte, Mont., tonight to win a newspaper decision.

Dempsey weighed 194; Wine 191.

Apparently taking it easy after losing to King Levinsky at Chicago last week, the former champion battered Wine almost at will, and except in the second round clearly had the advantage over his opponent.

In the second round Wine managed to land a few short jabs to Dempsey's body, but at other times was on the receiving end of many body and head blows. The blacksmith swung and clinched on numerous occasions, and his legs buckled under him once in the fourth and final round, but he lasted to the finish.

BILL'S BOB WINS.

CLAREMORE, Okla., Feb. 23.—(AP) Showing class and performance far superior to his 13 competitors, Bill's Bob, a Pointer belonging to Cecil S. Proctor, Oklahoma City, won a national amateur championship for his owner at the All-American field trials ending here today.

Bill's Bob, working a two-hour stretch yesterday, found two covers and two singles. On a run-over today he found two more covers.

DRUID HILLS WINS.

The Druid Hills girls' basketball team defeated Decatur Junior High girls, 12 to 7, in a close game played on the Decatur court yesterday afternoon.

Chicago Cubs First To Start Spring Training

MERCER PLAYS 'NOOGA TODAY

Two Dixie Favorites Matched in Tourney Opener.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Two of the three favorites to capture the Dixie conference basketball championship meet tomorrow in the opening round of the first annual tournament of the circuit.

Mercer and Chattanooga, boasting of outstanding records, were thrown together in the lower bracket by the draw after it was decided not to seed any of the eight entries. They meet at 4 p. m.

Mississippi College and Southwest open the tournament at 3 p. m. with the other game of the lower bracket.

Millsaps, top-heavy favorites to win the championship, plays the Birmingham Southern Panthers at 8 p. m. and Howard meets Spring Hill at 7:45 p. m., in the other upper bracket game.

The four surviving teams play Thursday and the championship battle is scheduled for Friday night. The losing semi-finalists hook up Friday to determine winners of the third and fourth places.

PETRELS FINISH PRACTICE FRIDAY

Harry Robertson Pleased With Results; 35 Baseball Men Report.

Spring football practice at Oglethorpe University will be brought to a close Friday afternoon with a running scrimmage. Coach Harry Robertson announced last night.

The Petrel coach is well pleased with the progress of his squad thus far. He developed the best hitting Jimmy George and Metrick, halfbacks, as the outstanding prospects uncovered for next year. They will be sophomores next fall.

George weighs 160 pounds, is fast and a good passer. He is a brother of Charley George, end. Chandler leads so far. M. C. Yesterday's practice was not of a heavy nature.

BASEBALL STARTS.

Around 35 candidates for Frank Anderson's Petrel baseball team reported for the opening practice yesterday. Anderson termed it one of the best looking squads he has ever had. Only players who are on the football squad, were absent. They will report when football work is over Friday.

Ernest Golden, who will try out with Chattanooga, Claude Herrin and Clay Spert of last year's team are not back. Anderson will build his team so as to develop the best hitting club possible. Whitley and Charley George will try for third with "Chink" Martin at short.

Uniforms have been issued to all men. The first game is March 19 with Hartford in Macon. The baseball team is working from 2 until 3:30 until football is over.

Wiffy and Wood Lead Qualifiers

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Wiffy Cox, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Craig Wood, of Deal, N. J., clipped three strokes off par for the Pasadena course today, shooting 60 each, to lead qualifiers for the $1,500 St. Petersburg open. More than two-thirds of the field of 104 professionals and amateurs had completed the first round of 18 holes.

Tied for second place with rounds of 71 each were: Billy Burke, of Bellair, Fla.; national open champion; Johnny Farrell, of St. Augustine, Fla.; Joe Tarnes, of Elmford, N. Y.; Clarence Dwyer, of Rochester, N. Y.; and Harry Cooper, of Chicago.

Chi Phi and Sigma Chi advanced to the second round of the fraternal wrestling tournament Tuesday at the Emory Y. M. C. A., defeating Alpha Epsilon Pi and Sigma Pi, respectively.

Chi Phi downed A. E. Pi, 3-1, the fifth match ending in a draw. Sanborn Cooper, Fred Durant and Mott Martin, Chi Phi, won from Henry Fine, Melvin Weisman and Leon Shalowsky. Kirk Donahue won A. E. Pi's only victory, defeating Roscoe Shelton. Harold Williams, A. E. Pi, wrestled Bob Anley to a draw.

Schley Howard Jr., Marvin Mitchell and Bill Reynolds gave Sigma Chi the necessary three victories over Sigma Pi. Sigma Chi won 3-2 Jake Ward, Sigma Pi, lost to Bill Reynolds in the most exciting match of the program. An extra three minutes was necessary to determine the victor.

My! But This Pairing Business Does Tricks

Maryland and Kentucky Have Snap First Round But Meet "Tartars" in Second.

By Jimmy Jones.

What we don't know doesn't hurt us, we have been led to believe, and for that reason there may be nothing of a painful nature troubling the basketballers of Maryland and Old Kentucky this morning. That is unless they have seen a chart of the pairings for the conference basketball tournament that starts Friday.

"Just a breeze," the Old Liners and the Wildcats giggled when the news came over the wires that they had been paired with nothing more formidable than Florida's Alligators and Tulane's Greenies on opening day.

Those games would be just a breeze to two such great basketball teams as Maryland and Old Kentucky.

But just look what's coming up in the second round.

For Maryland, no one but the Vandy Commodores, the "plant killers," provided they beat Duke.

For Kentucky, none but the doctory North Carolina Tarheels, provided they despatch Tennessee, which they very likely will do. Vanderbilt, if you recall, has upset Alabama and Kentucky already. North Carolina has beaten Maryland once and lost a one-point game on another occasion.

LEAP IN DARK.

The tourney "fathers," which term we offer with reservations to Messrs. Stegeman, Doonan and Alexander, fixed things that no two teams who had met previously would meet in the first round.

Take a chart of the pairings then and look what Maryland and Kentucky will encounter after the second round. If they beat Vandy and Carolina (provided Vandy beats Duke) the semi-finals may prove easier than the quarter-finals. Alabama and Auburn have been picked to move into the second round.

Since tournaments usually bring at least one mighty upset, there is an excellent chance of a leap ahead of Vandy and Carolina.

Josh Cody is noted for his ability to bring his teams up to a peak and there is no gaining that by his team has twice the outfit it was when it lost a one-sided game to Tech early in the season.

At any rate, it'll be something to look out for.

Sale, Demise To Be Ready.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 23.—(AP) Forrest Sale and John Demisey, star University of Kentucky basketball players, will be among the squad of nine men leaving here tomorrow for the Southern conference basketball tournament at Atlanta. Both players were taken slightly ill with colds last week but they are expected to see action in the tournament, though they may not be in the best of condition.

Light and Welter Titles Open.

UNIVERSITY, Va., Feb. 23.—(AP) Lightweight and welterweight classes will be without title defenders in the sixth Southern conference boxing tournament at the University of Virginia this week, but Douglas Myers, Virginia's middleweight champion, is preparing to defend his title in a field of 14 men, including five contenders undefeated this season.

Myers himself hasn't lost a bout.

Three Jackets Picked On All-Georgia Quintet

Mercer's diminutive forward, Wilkes, received more votes than any other player selected on the Associated Press All-State college basketball team for 1932.

This dynamic court rover and accurate sharpshooter was named for the first team by all but one of the sports experts of the state participating in the voting. He drew 11 votes.

Wilkes' running mate at forward on the honor team is Hugh Gooding, of Georgia Tech. Gooding polled nine votes, as did Bill Perkins, also of Georgia Tech, who was selected as center.

Leroy Young, guard, is Georgia's lone representative on the first five. He received 10 votes, while MacArthur, of Georgia Tech, the other guard, had nine.

Since he received more votes than any other athlete, Wilkes was named captain of the quintet.

Mercer, of Georgia, and Popoko, of Mercer, were selected as forwards on the second team, with Strickland, of Georgia, at center, and Harrison, of Mercer, and Vernon "Catfish" Smith, of Georgia, as guards.

Honorable mention goes to Poole, Georgia Tech guard; Terrell, Georgia forward; Katz, Tech forward, and Reason, Mercer, center.

TEAMS BATTLE ON EVEN TERMS MOST OF GAME

Score Is Tied Six Times; Victory Gives Jackets the Series.

By Ralph McGill.

Pulses were playing leap frog and nerves were twanging like steel guitars Tuesday night at the auditorium when Georgia Tech had finished up beating the Georgia Bulldogs basketball team, 25 to 22, to make it two out of three for the series.

There must have been 4,000 people there and they were all goggle-eyed and panting like Clark Gable in a love scene when the Bulldogs took and let them all drop back with a gasp of relief. The score had been tied six times.

That game was all snarled up for 39 1/2 minutes. And they don't play but 40 minutes. Georgia Tech held a most uncomfortable lead of a point or so throughout most of the first half. In fact the Jackets were ahead just 12 to 10 when the half ended. It had been 4 and 4, 6 and 8 and 8 and 8 all the way. The brothers Nip and Tuck were the master of ceremonies.

GOOD PASSING.

Tech did some bewildering passing, in fact just about the smartest handling of the ball that the court has seen this winter. But neither the Jackets nor the Bulldogs could get their sights set just right.

And so they pulled up, 12 to 10, at the half and the crowd about half dead from excitement. But that was just a dash of paprika. They were to bring on the old hot stuff in the last half.

They had fiddled around just a minute or so when Young looped one in from 20 feet away to tie the score at one dozen to just that many for Tech.

TIED AGAIN.

They ran it up to 16 and 16 while strong men wept and weak women shouted for a field goal. It hung there until Young blasted in another to put the Bulldogs out in front for the first time since the game had been old enough to put on long pants.

And then Bill Perkins, the round-shouldered Tech center, showed in one to make it 18 and 18 and the crowd screamed and the band played on. It was the kind of a game. Strickland after strickland bounced off the steel and reverberated from the wooden floor.

Strickland shot Georgia out in front, 20 to 18. And there she hung while the Jackets stood by and yelled. Bill Perkins came galloping up on his long legs and fired in one to tie it up at 20 to 20.

TWO GREAT SHOTS.

That was twice he had come through right in the old clutch. Which was about all one could ask of one man. Destiny clutched another man by the arm and led him forward.

It was Poole, Tech guard, who slipped one in to put the Jackets out in front, 22 to 20. Someone fouled him on the try and he tossed in a foul goal to make it 23 to 20.

Things looked pretty safe for the Jackets just then, but not for long. Up came Strickland, the Tech Nemesis. And he tossed one right in that made it 25 to 22. And there was a minute left to play.

There was some fast floor work. Tech got the ball. McArthur shot it to Perkins. He wheeled and passed to Gooding who raced in to shoot. Tommy Moran, Georgia forward, bumped him from behind hard enough to knock Gooding sprawling. Gooding got up and made the two free throws. It was 25 to 22.

THE GAME ENDS.

The ball was tossed up at center. And the whistle blew.

Hugh Gooding rushed over and hugged Roy Mundoff, Tech coach, who was just then beginning to breathe again.

Tech had won her first major victory in three years over the Bulldogs. Better handling of the ball and an eye for the basket in the pinch won the ball game.

They are all through now until the tournament.

Light and Welter Titles Open.

UNIVERSITY, Va., Feb. 23.—(AP) Lightweight and welterweight classes will be without title defenders in the sixth Southern conference boxing tournament at the University of Virginia this week, but Douglas Myers, Virginia's middleweight champion, is preparing to defend his title in a field of 14 men, including five contenders undefeated this season.

Myers himself hasn't lost a bout.

Three Jackets Picked On All-Georgia Quintet

Mercer's diminutive forward, Wilkes, received more votes than any other player selected on the Associated Press All-State college basketball team for 1932.

This dynamic court rover and accurate sharpshooter was named for the first team by all but one of the sports experts of the state participating in the voting. He drew 11 votes.

Wilkes' running mate at forward on the honor team is Hugh Gooding, of Georgia Tech. Gooding polled nine votes, as did Bill Perkins, also of Georgia Tech, who was selected as center.

Leroy Young, guard, is Georgia's lone representative on the first five. He received 10 votes, while MacArthur, of Georgia Tech, the other guard, had nine.

Since he received more votes than any other athlete, Wilkes was named captain of the quintet.

Mercer, of Georgia, and Popoko, of Mercer, were selected as forwards on the second team, with Strickland, of Georgia, at center, and Harrison, of Mercer, and Vernon "Catfish" Smith, of Georgia, as guards.

Honorable mention goes to Poole, Georgia Tech guard; Terrell, Georgia forward; Katz, Tech forward, and Reason, Mercer, center.

Tone of the Markets

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Following is the complete official list of today's stock market transactions on the New York Stock Exchange:

What the Market Did

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Stocks slipped slowly backward today in the quietest trading since February 9.

Prices sagged to an emphatically weak close. Losses ranged from more than 4 points, with the turn-over 1,281,213 shares.

Brokers have been taking the view that the worst of the bear market was over found ground for calling the reaction a consolidation of the recent advance, pointing out that the list had still to complete a normal technical reaction from the mid-month rally.

Nevertheless, buying support was unimpaired, for shorts appeared to have regained their composure fully and there was nothing in the day's news to stimulate demand in anticipation of another upward flurry.

Auburn auto the two large German Union Pacific lost more than 6. American Telephone and General Electric fell into heavy going during the day, but the latter recovered to close respectively, General Motors, Du Pont, Case, American Tobacco "B", and U. S. Steel finished 2 to 3-16 lower.

An unusually large number of dividend meetings were held, prominent among them being that of United Corporation which declared a 10-cent quarterly payment on common which has been on a 75 cent annual basis.

The New York Federal Reserve bank was reported to have been a heavy purchaser of bankers' acceptances both for its own account and those of foreign correspondents.

With the French franc comfortably below the gold point, the question of additional gold shipments assumed, at least there is no longer any danger of a temporary loss of confidence in the Reich's banking structure was commended.

Foreign Markets

LONDON.—Strength in sterling which was supported from the continent helped allied securities to handle the day's trading. The closing was firm.

Investment Trusts

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Investment trust securities, viewed on the counter market, were mixed.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 10 points down at 6.75. Receipts: 14,813; shipments: 2,100.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Cotton was generally lower today under realizing or liquidation. After selling off to 6.99 at the start, May rallied to 7.07 on trade buying and covering, but prices again sagged on the closing hour.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 8 to 12 points. The over-all closing was a slight rally in the afternoon, but the action of the market there seemed to have an artificial character.

Offerings increased in the last half hour, with March selling at 6.77 and October at 7.22.

SPOTS IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The cotton market developed considerably lower today, particularly in the afternoon. Much lower cables than due, hedge selling and straddle trading between the markets caused the decline.

TRADE TRENDS

AUTOMOBILES.—Sales thus far in February have shown little better than the average for the month. This condition is attributable not only to the slow business in buying, but also to the buying public's determination to await the new Ford cars, according to the analysis. Should the new cars materialize, a decided rise in motor sales would likely follow, it is claimed.

COTTON CLOTH

Production of cotton cloth in American mills during the first 22 days of the month was 510,815,000 square yards, according to an estimate of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York. This compares with an estimated production of 480,164,000 square yards in December.

STEEL

With consumers buying for prompt shipment only, the steel industry may not be barometric of general trade, but it has frequently proved to be the best gauge of the American metal market in its weekly iron and steel review. As a consequence of more active financial policies materializing, a decided rise in motor sales would likely follow, it is claimed.

Miscellaneous Markets

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Cotton goods opened lower, with the spot market divided with the demand moderate. Silks were firmer in California. Silks were firmer in California. Silks were firmer in California.

MOTHER NEARCOLLAPSE OVER HEIRESS' DEATH

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Mabel E. Cook, Boston society woman, whose daughter, Miss Elizabeth Barrett Cook, died mysteriously on the steamship Chinese Prince in the Mediterranean, arrived today from Naples on the steamship Conte Rosso, declaring to passengers her belief that the 20-year-old girl died accidentally of an overdose of sleeping powder.

Mrs. Cook and her other daughter, Louise, 17, as well as Elizabeth's fiancé, St. George Tucker Arnold, locked themselves in a stateroom as the vessel came up New York harbor, refusing to see reporters. Mrs. Cook was reported near collapse.

ARKANSAS PETITION ASKS TARIFF ON OIL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Support for a tariff on oil was asked today in a petition from Arkansas submitted by Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, for printing in the Congressional Record.

Polka-Dot Step-Ins, A La Zipper, for Men CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—(UP)—Polka-dot step-ins, with zipper, are what the well-dressed man is going to wear next to himself this spring if the retail clothes have their way.

"Pink will be the best color for garters," said Convention Official A. C. Carlson.

Foot Expert

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The man who does not like grand opera because it's "all a lot of Greek" found a hearty sympathizer today in a man who has spent a lifetime developing grand opera.

"If opera is to survive in America it must be made intelligible to all of us," said Frank La Forge, who has been called the world's greatest teacher by such singers as the late Enrico Caruso, Lawrence Tibbett and Madame Schumann-Herterich.

And then he told why he thinks a large percentage of so-called opera lovers are nothing but hypocritical posers.

"How can you expect a man to appreciate the songs of Brahms if he doesn't know whether they're about nightgowns or a fire in the next town?"

In Europe—and they've produced a few musicians over there—they're much more interested in a singer with excellent diction than in one with a far superior voice whose words they can't understand. And the singing must be done in their own language. But here—

Mr. La Forge sighed and continued. "Here the wealthier finger too long over their dinner. They arrive late at the opera. They don't understand a word that is being sung. They are bored, they are tired, they are back with a rapid expression on their faces and pretend to be going simply crazy over the opera."

Musical Mr. La Forge's life—he talks of nothing else, reads about little else, and for 30 years (this is the anniversary of his debut) has been sending voices like Tibbett's and Richard Crooks from his studio.

Christ Image on Wall Draws Many to Church

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(AP)—A foot-high figure of Christ, clothed in white and resting from the dead, discovered two years ago on a wall of the sanctuary of St. Bartholomew's church, is drawing hundreds to the church.

The figure of Christ is discernible in the variegations of the brownish marble, apparently illumined by a strong light from above, and is plainly visible from the chancel and communion rail. The face dissolves on close approach.

Decision on Farley To Be Made Today

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's decision on the "Farley case" probably will be announced tomorrow.

Mr. Roosevelt had completed the rough draft of his announcement early tonight and planned to work on it during the evening.

There has been no hint as to what he intends to do about the demand that he remove Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, of New York, from office. However, because of the governor's opponents during the hearing in the Capitol Hill opinion generally is that the Tammany sheriff will be ousted.
